A PLACE FOR PLACEMAKING IN SAN DIEGO

Barriers to Creative Placemaking in San Diego

- 1. Complex and Expensive Permit Process - Placemaking project permits are treated as development projects, and the process is often complicated and expensive for residents.
- 2. The process is not equitable - Residents who can navigate the political system are more likely to succeed than those without the same experience.
- 3. Funding for permits is difficult to find - The City does not currently provide financial assistance to encourage more projects.
